

PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT

The City of Ocean Shores will be hosting a “taste the water” workshop on June 8, 2009 at the Ocean Shores Convention Center at 1:30 pm.

The purpose of this workshop is to introduce the public to the designers, manufacturers, and State public health officials, involved with the City’s new water treatment process scheduled to be under construction by 2010.

Come join us and learn from the experts about the treatment plant pilot study that ultimately lead to this design. Learn about how the treatment process works and most importantly taste the water that will be coming from the City’s new drinking water aquifer.

You have asked and we listened.

“What will the water look like, smell like, and taste like?”

All are welcome.
